Security Horizon Reports 2005 Revenue Growth

Colorado Springs, CO – December 30, 2005 – Security Horizon, Inc. today announced financial results for calendar year 2005. Security Horizon experienced a 15% growth in revenue over 2004, indicating excellent and stable performance and overall financial flexibility.

“We are thrilled with our growth this year,” stated Russ Rogers, Security Horizon’s CEO. “I am even more proud of our performance given that we have accomplished such consistent and steady financial growth for several years in a row without any external funding. It’s a direct result of the tremendous effort put forth by all of our employees.”

Based on continued growth in demand for its training and services, Security Horizon has a projected 2006 revenue goal of 20% above the 2005 numbers. Enrollment in Security Horizon’s offerings of the National Security Agency’s INFOSEC Assessment Methodology (IAM) and INFOSEC Evaluation Methodology (IEM) courses continues to increase, both domestically and at international locations as industry professionals continue to strive towards standardization in the community. Requests for Security Horizon’s professional services in both federal and private sectors have also increased. This includes appraisals and ratings under NSA’s INFOSEC Assurance Capability Maturity Model (IA-CMM), federal contracting opportunities, and commercial information security activities.

About Security Horizon, Inc. – Security Horizon, a veteran-owned small business, was founded in 2000 by information security professionals with extensive backgrounds in commercial, United States Government, and Department of Defense (DoD) environments. Security Horizon offerings include security assessments and network vulnerability evaluations, penetration testing, security policy development, and National Security Agency (NSA) INFOSEC training courses and appraisals. Many of our consultants hold high-level security clearances and our experience includes work with the NSA, Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA), United States Navy (USN), and the United States Air Force (USAF). Security Horizon is headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colorado.
